Silo and Bin Cleaning Leader Celebrates a Quarter of a Century of Safety and Service

MARIETTA, OH -- Mole•Master Services Corporation is observing its 25th anniversary with a special look back at defining moments and philosophies in the silo and bin cleaning expert's history.

"A commitment to safety has been a keystone of our business from the very beginning," Mole•Master General Manager Dave Laing said, citing multiple years of zero lost-time accidents or recordable injuries dating back to the company's early years.

"Our rigorous training program ensures our employees comply 100% with federal guidelines," Laing said. "We also take steps to ensure we have a comprehensive understanding of the regulations each customer must contend with, whether the requirements are local, state or industry-specific."

While Mole•Master views its long-standing safety commitment with pride, the leader in silo and bin cleaning equipment sales and service also recounts a number of important innovations and accomplishments in the last 25 years, including:

- Projects in all 50 states, Puerto Rico and 33 countries
- Expansion from servicing coal, power and cement industries to a wide range of markets, including aluminum, plastics, ethanol, food, grain and more than 20 other areas
- Design and construction of pneumatic and hydraulic silo and bin cleaners
- Purchase and installation of silo for "in-house" training

As part of Mole•Master's celebration of its 25th anniversary, the company honored two employees – Phil Proctor and Mike Wagner – who have been with the company since the beginning and have made substantial contributions toward its growth. "I am thrilled to have been part of the history of Mole•Master as we grew from a start-up to the global leadership position we now enjoy," Proctor said.

For the future, Laing foresees more of the same: "From our commitment to safety to our dedication to customer satisfaction to our determination to train and advance our employees, Mole•Master has achieved an outstanding 25 years and set the course for another 25 years – and more – of growth, service and excellence."
